For Thursday, I’d like the following three people to be ready to address the prompt below: Pam, Charlotte, Lennie.

Here’s the prompt: Choose a passage from the readings this week (on narrative criticism or framing analysis) that illuminates your thinking and/or your artifact. Be prepared to ask us to look collectively at a page number from the readings.

In the weeks that follow, I’ll spread the responsibility for the MOO Appetizers around so that everyone has a chance to prepare a short response. (If we don’t get to the Appetizers again, then those assigned to the Appetizer should post their reply to the MOO Appetizer topic on WebCT.)

Thanks,

Sean Zdenek
